RCMP search for pedophile in Leduc area

SEXUAL ASSAULT Police are searching for a pedophile in Leduc, after an 11-year-old girl was sexually assaulted this week, and was caught on camera by a bystander.

Just before 8 p.m. Tuesday, a stranger approached an 11-year-old girl, who was playing on the Suspect playground of Corinthia Park School. Police say the man sexually assaulted the young girl, then fled on foot.

A witness caught the suspect on camera, and turned the video in to police. The victim did not know her attacker.

"She's a little shaken up but she's doing okay," said Leduc RCMP Const. Jodi Heidinger. "Of course, anyone in that situation would be traumatized, but she's got good help from her mom and dad."

Friends and family of 34-year-old Nancy Cooper cried outside a downtown Edmonton church yesterday, remembering the mother of two whose death remains a mystery.

"Today is a day that should not be," said the pastor presiding over the service. "There are questions that beg answers we may never know."

Cooper's brother Jeff Rentz, an RCMP officer, was accompanied by over a dozen uniformed officers who came to Grace Lutheran Church to pay their respects.

Every seat in the church was filled, leaving latecomers to sit in a separate gymnasium, while services were shown on a television screen.

Noticeably absent from all family photos shown during the service was Nancy's husband, Brad Cooper. He was not present, nor invited to the service.

The couple's two daughters, four-year-old Bella and two-year-old Katie, were held lovingly by their grandparents who now have custody of the girls. Katie celebrated her second birthday yesterday.

Nancy adored her children, truly, and was a fantastic mother," said long-time friend Anna Roberts.

She was described as generous, loyal, selfless, and the life of the party. Friends and family took the podium one by one, describing her joy in sports, and how she loved to jog.

Nancy, who lived in Cary, N.C., was reported missing by a friend last week, after she didn't return home from jogging in the morning.

Two days after her disappearance, her body was found floating in a storm runoff pond.

Police have not yet identified suspects in the case, and have not released a cause of death.

Police targeting Jasper Avenue rowdies

PARTIERS Late night Capital EX and Rexall Indy revellers be warned — if you choose to drink and drive or take part in drunken shenanigans downtown, police will be watching.

"Respect others, respect property and keep in mind certain things won't be tolerated," said acting superintendent Brian Nowlan adding the Edmonton police downtown division plans to add extra cops in the area.

Bars along Jasper Avenue anticipate large numbers of partiers this weekend. One establishment has erected a large party tent that boasts such celebrity guests as Kevin Federline and Vern "Mini-Me" Troyer.

Nowlan says police have asked Edmonton Transit to run buses around closing time hours, but ETS has yet to respond.

Gun amnesty in Hobbema

In an effort to curb violence, reserve becomes first to offer program

jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

In a move to thwart violence that has gripped a central Alberta aboriginal community, the province and police will give residents in Hobbema a chance to freely turn over their guns to police — the first move of its kind in a Canadian reserve.

Anyone in Hobbema can get rid of their unwanted guns, even knives, by calling the local RCMP without being charged with possessing unregistered or unlicensed firearms between Aug. 1 to Nov. 3.

But police will test all guns, and if they determine the weapon is stolen, they will conduct an investigation, Solicitor General Fred Lindsay said yesterday.

When asked if conducting an investigation over a stolen weapon would act as a deterrent, Lindsay said the move will still be effective in a community that has a large number of street gangs.

"When you are at a situation where your community's security is in danger, folks in their community want to make it a lot safer," said Lindsay.

"This is an opportunity for those people to turn those guns in."

The amnesty comes three months after 23-month-old Asia Saddleback was wounded in her home after a gang-related drive-by shooting.

Since the shooting, RCMP Cpl. Darrel Bruno said the community has made steps in curbing the violence. That includes forcing teens to stay off the streets between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. through an enforced curfew in a community with a high population of people under the age of 18.

"When young Asia was shot, it galvanized the community, it mobilized us to take action because such a thing should never occur," said Carolyn Buffalo, a spokeswoman for the band that includes Hobbema.

Albertans handed over more than 2,700 unwanted firearms and other weapons to police in a province-wide, one month amnesty in 2006.

Facilitating cardiac care

HEALTH Albertans suffering from heart disease can receive much faster care no matter where they live in the province, said Alberta Health Minister Ron Liepert yesterday.

Facilitators have been hired to make sure patients are referred to the first available and most appropriate health service provider.

The workers, called patient navigators, will assist doctors and other health-service providers by acting as a liaison with cardiac health-care services.

"This is another step in how we are trying to ensure that patients have a seamless access to the system," said Liepert during an announcement yesterday.

Recruiting, training and establishing a province-wide cardiac patient navigator system across the province will cost taxpayers $11.8 million for two years.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper is expected to an-

Guelph and Westmount are especially important to Liberals. If the Liberals do well in these ridings they now hold, it's believed they'll be emboldened to defeat the government and force a vote before the end of this year.

If they do poorly, as they did in last fall's by-elections when they lost one of their "safe" seats in Quebec to the NDP, then all bets are off for a campaign this fall, and Canadians could see Harper stay in office until the October 2009 date set under his fixed-term election legislation.

Oil-rich Arctic sparks environment worries

Developing the huge amounts of newly assessed Arctic oil and natural gas reserves amounts to "playing with fire as far as nature is concerned," says the head of a Canadian citizens' group.

Tony Clarke, executive director of the Ottawa-based Polaris Institute, was commenting on yesterday's report by the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) estimating the area north of the Arctic Circle has 90 billion barrels of "technically recoverable" oil and 1,670 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. It was the first-ever assessment of the entire area north of the Arctic Circle.

This would amount to 13 per cent of the world's total undiscovered oil and about 30 per cent of the undiscovered natural gas.

Andrea Harden-Donahue

The Arctic assessment, which also includes 44 million barrels of technically recoverable natural gas liquids, examined 25 defined areas thought to have potential for petroleum.

Clarke takes issue with the prospect of massive Arctic development, stressing "before any steps are taken to exploit these resources, there must be serious thought given to ecological impact in the most sensitive area in the world."

At a press conference in Washington, scientists said more than half of the oil reserves occur in only three geologic areas, including two off the coast of North America. They were most optimistic about potential in Arctic Alaska, where waters are disputed between Canada and the U.S.

Andrea Harden-Donahue, energy campaigner for the Council of Canadians in Ottawa, emphasized the need for social and environmental impact before "rushing into an energy gold rush."

"It feeds into an already out-of-control industry with the concerns of the public and the environment secondary," she said.

Dion eyes possible fall vote

ELECTION Canadians are increasingly in the mood for a federal election this fall, says Liberal Leader Stéphane Dion.

"More than before," Dion said yesterday when asked what he was hearing on the road about voters' desire to go to the polls. "We have seen over the winter and the spring, more and more interest for federal politics and more and more appetite for an election."

But it may be another election — the U.S. presidential contest — that will also help the Liberals in any electoral battle here, Dion says.

The Liberal leader, currently on a tour of eastern Ontario to sell his "green shift" tax proposal, said that both presumptive U.S. presidential candidates — Republican John McCain and Democrat Barack Obama — are proposing a more aggressive stand on climate change.

Dion said that the Liberals, with their plan to move taxes away from income and more to environmentally unfriendly carbon, are more in tune with the changing U.S. mood than is Stephen Harper's government.

Karadzic to defend himself

Former Serb leader accused of genocide, war crimes

Radovan Karadzic will conduct his own defence at the Hague tribunal and is convinced he will be cleared of charges of genocide, relatives and associates of the war crimes suspect said yesterday

Karadzic, leader of the Bosnian Serbs in the 1992-95 Bosnia war, was arrested in Serbia on Monday after 11 years on the run.

He was one of three remaining war crimes fugitives from the Yugoslav wars, their arrest a condition for Serbia to move towards European Union membership.

He is now in a Belgrade prison awaiting extradition to The Hague, which could come this weekend.

He was not talking to investigators, but "defending himself with silence."

"He is going to have a legal team in Serbia but will defend himself during his trial at The Hague."

Karadzic is twice indicted for genocide for the massacre of 8,000 Bosnian Muslims in the town of Srebrenica in 1995 and for the 43-month siege of Sarajevo.

Some 11,000 people died in the city from sniper fire, mortar attacks, starvation and illness.

Karadzic had wanted Serb areas of Bosnia to be linked to Serbia and other Serb-dominated areas at a time when Slobodan Milosevic was fanning nationalism in Serbia.

Van Koeverden was announced yesterday morning at a news conference in Montreal as Canada's flag bearer at the opening ceremonies at the Aug. 8-24 Beijing Summer Olympics. The Canadian team was officially announced yesterday at two news conferences.

"I don't see it so much as leading but as representing," van Koeverden said via satellite from his

"I'm more than honoured and privileged. It fills me with so much pride to (carry the flag)," said van Koeverden. "I can't wait."

Van Koeverden had too strong a résumé to be ignored and was chosen over a group of other possible candidates that included equestrian Ian Millar of Perth, Ont., who at 61 is competing in a record-tying ninth Olympics; diver Alexandre Despatie of Montreal, an Olympic silver medallist and former world champion; and triathlete Simon Whitfield, the 2000 Sydney Olympic champion.

Van Koeverden will be Canada's best medal hope in Beijing, as the reigning Olympic and world champion, as well as world record holder in the men's K-1 500 metres. He has been a force on the World Cup this season, winning five of six races (three in the K-1 500, two in the K-1, 1,000), and capturing a bronze in the other K-1, 1,000.

The 26-year-old from the Burloak Canoe Club in Oakville, Ont., also has the kind of attitude that the COC is hoping will be instilled in athletes as they move towards the 2010 Vancouver Olympics and beyond.

Asked about the pressure of competing for Canada, van Koeverden's response was: "Bring it on."

"You should be stressed out about racing for Canada," he said earlier this year. "People are watching. You should perform. It's your job to perform. It's your job to run 100 metres or throw a javelin or paddle a kayak."

Van Koeverden is well respected among his peers. Among those who were pulling for him to get the job of flag bearer was Clara Hughes, the only Canadian to ever win medals in both the winter and summer Olympics. She will likely be a top candidate for the honour at the 2010 Games.

"I think he is the perfect choice because he is an athlete not afraid to put himself on the line — anywhere, any time, against anyone," said Hughes. "There is this misconception about Canadian athletes that we are 'too nice' and sometimes I read things about Adam being brash, or cocky. I think he is fantastic."

"He says what most of us feel — that we want to be the best! His energy, drive and confidence is the perfect mix for the athlete leading the Canadian team into the Beijing Olympics."

Canadian athletes named

The Canadian Olympic Committee also unveiled the team that will compete in Beijing yesterday.

Some 331 athletes will represent Canada compared to 265 who competed at Athens.

The COC says the addition of the men's field hockey and women's soccer teams have contributed to the increase.

Athletes representing Canada in Beijing include:

- Gold medallists Adam van Koeverden (kayak, K-1 500m, Oakville, Ont.) and Kyle Shewfelt (artistic gymnastics, floor, Calgary).

• Silver medallists Alexandre Despatie (diving, 3m springboard, Montreal), Marie-Hélène Prémont (cycling, cross-country, Quebec City), Karen Cockburn (gymnastics, trampoline, Toronto), Tonya Verbeek (wrestling, women's 55kg, St. Catharines, Ont.) and Jake Wetzel (rowing, coxless four in 2004, now a member of the men's eight, Saskatoon).

- Bronze medallists Emilie Heymans (diving, 10m synchro, now 10m platform, St. Lambert, Que.), Blythe Hartley (diving, 10m synchro, now 3m springboard, North Vancouver) and Adam van Koeverden (K-1, 1,000m).

The 2008 Canadian Olympic Team also boasts several athletes with four or more Olympic Games to their name, including equestrian standout Ian Millar (Perth, Ont.), who will mark his world record-tying ninth Games; rower Lesley Thompson-Willie, of London, Ont., will compete in her sixth Games; and Edmonton native trap shooter Susan Nattrass will compete in her sixth Games.

Canadian golfers feel the heat

Wait continues for another homegrown champ as Open gets underway today

After battling punishing conditions at the British Open, Canadians Mike Weir and Stephen Ames face another daunting challenge in trying to end a 54-year drought for home players at the Canadian Open.

No Canadian has claimed the national championship since Pat Fletcher in 1954, leaving Weir, Ames and 17 other Canadian contenders trying to wrestle the title away from back-to-back winner Jim Furyk at the Glen Abbey golf course starting today.

Weir, the 2003 Masters champion from Bright's Grove, Ont., came tantalizingly close to ending the dry spell the last time the Canadian Open was staged on the par 71, 7,273-yard Jack Nicklaus designed layout in 2004 but came up just short after losing to Fiji's Vijay Singh in a playoff.

"I remember (in 2004) that everybody was very excited," Weir told reporters. "I was in contention, and Canada was playing for the gold in the world (hockey) championships. So there was a different atmosphere than a normal golf tournament.

"But it was a special feeling."

"I was really disappointed. What can I say? I've had plenty of those in my career. That was right up there with a number of them."

"You live and learn and go on. That's four years ago.

Open facts

- Course: Glen Abbey Golf Club, Oakville, Ont.
- Purse: $5 million (US).
- Defending champion: Jim Furyk.
- The 156-player field includes 19 Canadians.

I don't think about it much anymore, and I'm going to try to win this week."

Furyk, the highest ranked player in the field at No. 10, is bidding to become the first player to win three consecutive Canadian Opens and his first title of the season, but has found little success at the Abbey finishing no better than a tie for 22nd in four previous starts.

Federer ousted at Rogers Cup

TENNIS Roger Federer's troubled season continued when he followed his crushing loss in the Wimbledon final with a shock defeat by Frenchman Gilles Simon at the Rogers Cup last night in Toronto.

Back on court for the first time since his five-set loss to Rafael Nadal at the All-England Club, the world No. 1 appeared ready to take out his disappointment on Simon by winning the first four games on the way to the opening set.

But Simon, riding the momentum from his championship win in Indianapolis on Sunday, refused to buckle under the pressure, battling back to beat the 12-time grand slam winner 2-6 7-5 6-4 and reach the third round.

It was the first time Federer had lost his opening

"The hard court season just started so it is not the end of the world but I wish I could have started better," Federer told reporters. "I like this surface, I like this tournament, I have done well in the past here so it definitely hurts."

"I have to regroup and look forward."

Impressing your date

If you're serious about dating, take a good look at your home décor. Although you may not always realize it, the way you decorate your home makes a personal and revealing statement about yourself. And that is so true when it comes to bringing a date into your home for the first time.

While it is not the only factor that determines your success with that special someone, your home décor or a lack of it could spell the difference between goodbye after the first date, or a continued relationship. It can certainly enhance your first impression, or it can break it.

Let's start off with the living room, as your date will sit in this room. First

ArrestingDesign

Jeffrey Fisher & Tammy Schnurr

busted@arrestingdesign.com

of all, make sure the furniture isn't old or tatty.

It doesn't need to be high end, but make sure it is tidy and clean. Clutter, as always, is a no-no, because it produces agitation.

Keep in mind that student-like digs are fine for students, but if you are a young professional and you're looking to impress the man or woman of your dreams, get rid of the beanbag chairs and blow-up furniture, and invest in a few stylish pieces.

The kitchen should be clean and uncluttered. And stock up on some lovely treats for your date — fresh fruit, chocolate, wine or other delicacies.

The bathroom must be spotless and uncluttered with all your grooming paraphernalia — need we say any more?

Finally, the bedroom. First of all, a bedroom should not look like a shrine to your youth. For example, a young woman who still keeps teddy bears on her bed, and has a pink ruffled bedspread seems, well ... young. And a young man who still has pictures of superheroes on his wall does not seem like the kind of person who is ready to take on the responsibilities of adulthood.

Mementoes of your youth, like trophies, and high school awards and the like, should be displayed in a cabinet or shelf devoted to that purpose. But this should only be a small collection in a much larger room that has been decorated according to a larger theme or décor style.

Don't forget to choose gorgeous sheets and co-ordinating pillows — it's worth the splurge. Last but not least, do not forget to put away pictures of former girl or boyfriends.

Tammy Schnurr and Jeffrey Fisher are hosts of Arresting Design on W Network.

Your home's décor will make a lasting impression on your date.

Over one million Canadians choose 10•10•yak for long distance...

...and here's why.

Check out www.yak.ca for details.
Effective June 1st, we've dropped our rates to over 50 destinations!

No Sneaky Fees with 10•10•yak! When we say no sneaky fees, we mean it. Most people don't even know their phone company charges a monthly access fee buried somewhere in their bill.

No Minimum Fees with 10•10•yak! Some companies like 10•10•100 offer a low rate, but then you find out you have to pay a 25¢ minimum fee. Why can't they just be straight shooters like Yak? Well, the answer's simple — you're attracted by the low rate and they hope you don't notice you're paying more. Egad! That's not the Yak way.

No Promo Pricing at Yak! Sure we could offer you a month or two for "free" and then jack up the rates, or offer $10 off some service and then ... whammo, you find your bills are right back up there. Did you know that never in Yak's history have our rates ever gone up! Rates always go down and you AUTOMATICALLY get the best rate possible.

No Contracts* Use us when you want to. Just try and do that with a big telephone company. Once you've signed one of their contracts you'll find your provider jacks up the rates regularly or boosts the monthly fees or the access fees. To make matters worse, see what happens when you try to cancel! Get stuck paying back months of "savings" or else. How about access fees? Until Yak challenged the fee with the CRTC — and won — Telus charged its customers without long distance plans $2.95 every month to access their system. Even if they didn't make use of it!

REMEMBER: Yak is a nationally available 10•10 company and our rates never go up. You'll never pay any fees whatsoever. With Yak, there are no contracts, there are no credit checks and all calls appear on your local telephone bill.

What is Dial-Around? 10•10•yak (925) is a simple seven-digit code you dial before every long distance call you make. After dialling 10•10•925 do not wait for a dial tone, simply dial the long distance number you're calling in one continuous sequence. For North America: dial 10•10•925 + 1 + area code + number. For overseas: dial 10•10•925 + 011 + country code + number. No extra bill, no hassle, no contracts. Just great Yak rates.

Just call 1-866-473-0690 or visit www.yak.ca and we'll show you why over one million Canadians choose Yak.

der liquid. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours or overnight.

Preheat oven to 375°F (190°C). Butter an 8-inch (20 cm) square baking dish.

Gently add 1 cup (250 mL) blueberries to bread mixture; spoon into dish.

Sprinkle with brown sugar and bake until puffed and bubbly, 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Serve warm with remaining berries, icing sugar and/or maple syrup.

Blueberry tips:

- The Pick of the Crop: Choose blueberries that are plump and brightly coloured, as berries do not ripen after they have been picked. Blueberries will be deep blue, dusted with a silvery frost. Size is not an indication of ripeness but colour is, so steer clear of blueberries that are still red. Likewise, pass over any berries that are shrivelled, mouldy or if their boxes are stained with berry juice, all indications that the berries are past their prime.

- Good for you: Blueberries are a good source of fibre and have a high level of anthocyanins in the blue pigment, an antioxidant beneficial in fighting the effects of aging, heart disease and cancer. One cup (250 mL) blueberries has only 86 calories and supplies about 23 per cent vitamin C and 14 per cent fibre of our recommended daily requirements.

Canning the humble

Broken Social Scenester releases second solo album

BRIAN TOWIE
Metro Canada

Though he may not have the sensationalist surrealism of Big Brother, Brendan Canning doesn't mind inviting you into his modest world.

The bass-playing Broken Social Scene co-founder and former member of 1990s Canadian alt-rock group hHead recently finished recording his solo album, Something for All Of Us (release Tuesday), the second project under the Broken Social Scene Presents moniker that showcases individual work — as individual as it gets with them, anyway — from the Toronto-based indie collective's members.

Much like the group's previous side projects, BSS alumni contributions (co-founder Kevin Drew, Andrew Whiteman, Justin Peroff, Ohad Benhaim, the gang's all here) are ubiquitous on Canning's diverse album, and in the same vein as Whiteman's National Anthem of Nowhere under the Apostle of Hustle brand, production was meticulous and slow-moving, so much so that Something For All Of Us came out one year late.

Canning's opus was to coincide with the release of the other existing BSS Presents title, Drew's Spirit If..., which dropped last September, though an earlier version of Canning's album leaked online in June.

"I've never been the greatest at making deadlines," laughs Canning, 38. "I wasn't surprised about the leak either. I just wasn't happy with the minute details of some of the songs, so I spent a lot of time touching them up for store releases. ing to mean 100 years from now, really?"

But while Drew kept his effort under lock and key, Canning was quite open to revealing his process, allowing Bruce McDonald, director of 1996 mockumentary Hard Core Logo, into the studio to film the closing days of Canning assembling his diverse array of driving bassy undercurrents and unpretentious bangers, such as single Hit the Wall. Titled The Raw Side Of Brendan Canning, the documentary is tentatively set to air on IFC in the fall.

"It's weird having a camera crew around when you're trying to record. You get self-conscious, but Bruce and I have worked before. We're friends and he's very respectful," he said.

"I guess I could have gotten myself arrested or drugged up or angrily smashed stuff to make better television, but I let it be. What can I tell you? It's an unapologetic look at the humble life of a musician in the middle class suburbs."

Film probes aftermath of London bombings

A film inspired by the 2005 London suicide bombings that killed 52 people explores the mistrust they stoked between communities and how Islamist radicals threatened to drown out the voice of moderate Muslims.

Shoot on Sight, starring Greta Scacchi, is set in London just after the July 7 bombings and follows the story of a Muslim police officer thrust into the lime-light when a Muslim man is mistaken for a bomber and shot dead.

Tariq Ali, played by Indian actor Naseeruddin Shah, finds himself caught between police officers who are prejudiced against him because of his race and religion and a Muslim community that shuns him for betraying them.

"They don't trust him in the department because he is a Muslim and they don't trust him at the mosque because he is a police officer," director Jagmohan Mundhra said ahead of the film's release in Britain on Aug. 22.

"I have always admired British society for being the most tolerant. It's not just lip service, they have actually done it," Mundhra said.

"Then the actions of a few suddenly start causing this chasm. It becomes us versus them, and I think all these years of blending, suddenly comes to naught."

Mundhra, an Indian Hindu, was in London at the time of the attacks on the underground train system and a bus, and noticed how people's attitude to him changed because he was assumed by many to be a Muslim from South Asia.

Later the same month, a Brazilian man mistakenly believed to be a suicide bomber was shot dead by police. Mundhra used the incident as a trigger for his thriller.

He denied the film, the first feature to deal with the July 2005 events, was insensitive to victims. "I feel that you can't be an ostrich in the sand, you cannot ignore what is happening in society."

may not win any prizes for Father of the Year, after he was spotted driving a golf buggy on a quad bike track, with daughter Shiloh perched on his lap, the Daily Mail reports.

Pitt was seen out with sons Pax and Maddox enjoying a family day out at a quad bike track in Miraval. But the 44-year-old was criticized after he was seen leading the way in a golf buggy with his two-year-old daughter seated on his lap.

Shiloh was perched on Pitt's lap for the ride and doesn't appear to be wearing a seat belt nor a helmet.
